NOTES

The Blackhawks and Blues play for the sixth and final time in the 2011-12 regular season tonight. Chicago is 3-2 in the series and will try to maintain their win streak over STL at the United Center, where they haven't lost since Feb. 3, 2010.

Andrew Shaw is one of just three NHL players to log 19 or more points in 32 or fewer games this season, along with Sidney Crosby (4G, 21A in 16 games) and STL's Andy McDonald (9G, 10A in 21 games). Shaw leads the three with 11 goals, all at even strength.

Brent Seabrook scored his eighth goal of the season on Tuesday at NJD, one away from last year's career high of nine. Seabrook ranks third among Western Conference defensemen with 187 hits and fourth with 160 blocked shots this season.

With a win over the Blues and a PHX regulation loss vs. SJS tonight, the Blackhawks can clinch a spot in the 2012 Stanley Cup Playoffs. It will mark the fourth consecutive season that Chicago has booked a place in the postseason.
